Fairhaven Memorial Park (1911)

Founded by Oliver Halsell on August 28, 1911, in Santa Ana. Fairhaven Memorial Park was established as a memorial park, rather than a cemetery. Flat markers, as opposed to upright monuments, would distinguish the grounds, so visitors would feel as if they were enjoying the quiet solitude of expansive green lawns and mature shade trees.

Oliver was also responsible for developing one of the first mausoleums in Orange County in 1916. This mausoleum is the final resting place for many of Orange County's founding families including Nellie Gail Moulton.

Fairhaven is home to over 76 different varieties of trees, countless bird species and is part of the Southern California Bluebird Nesting Box Program.
